It's Just another day

-PRESENTS-

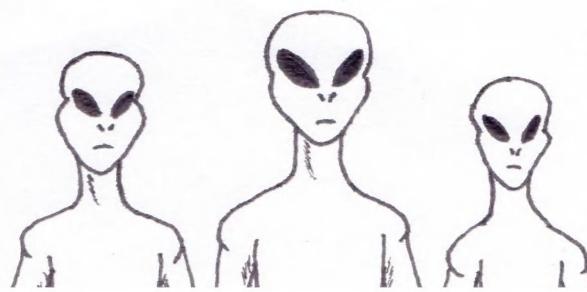

Hello all! BluRaven C. Houvener here, I'm the writer and illustrator of this lil' comic Zine you've got in your hands! I just wanted to thank you for picking this up. I poured a lot of time and effort into it to tell a story I haven't told in my adult life. It's a tale of the power fear can have over you, how strong an overactive imagination can be, and the unexplained mysteries that still exist in life! Take the lesson to heart yourself to overcome fear in your life. Read it to your children to help and inspire them through their moments. And over all look to the stars with a sense of awe that we sometimes lose in all the hustle n' bustle.

Growing up I was obsessed with aliens.

I'd grab every book from the library. I'd watch every T.V. special.

Learning about life beyond
Earth filled me with awe...

...but that wasn't all. Those nocturnal visitors who'd spirit you away maybe to never be seen again inspired something else...

...FEAR.

I would see them at night when I tried to go to sleep...

...of course it could've just been my imagination. But I didn't think so.

That fear didn't stop my intrigue though. I read more and more...

The Evidence...

- Betty & Barney NM Testimonies
- Life on Earth & BEYOND
- Extra-terrestrials
- Abduction R
- Close Encounters of the 4th Kind
- UFO's & You
- Alien Intervention
- Air Combat on UFOs

... I immersed myself in close encounters of the 1st-4th kinds...

...I was entranced by tales of Alien Abductions
...

It's a weather balloon.

...and Government cover ups.

I was convinced that they would arrive one night.

The End

QUESTION?

Why is Lil' Boy Jake's dog named "Cluck"?

Funny story, that's Jake's dad's doing. He had a wacky sense of humor and got a real good laugh at people saying "Cluck, Cluck, Cluck" when they would call for her. What animal makes a "cluck" sound you ask?... A Chicken!

Lil' Boy Jake also has a cat named "Oink"...but that's another story for another time.
